Thanks!

I emailed both Justin & Jessica this morning to see if they would like to have a phone call to get some background on Dewey-Burdock. I recall that you gave them some background just before our call a few Wednesdays ago to discuss what the climate change section should look like, but I just wanted to check in to see if they needed some additional info now that they have our write-up in their hands.

Should be Justin – you might want to reach out to him by phone. I am running out the door for an appointment or I would do it now.

Hi Lisa,

Just wanted to check with you to see who in HQ would review the climate change section. Is it Jessica and Justin?

Thanks!

Kimi – thanks for the call back today.

Look forward to discussing this Monday once you've had a chance to consider it. Call Friday if you want to discuss earlier Valois – Really enjoyed your write up on this. Don't think you need to do anything in response to these comments right now, unless you're eager to dive in and want to ask questions, offer better approaches, before Kimi and I have a chance to refine this and, if good to do, integrate her previous input even more.

Eventually, we have to run it by our HQ office. They want to see all NEPA energy projects & GHG/CC impacts letter language and have been alerted to this one already.

Chris – really enjoyed reviewing the references on Life Cycle Analysis/nuclear industry sector's sustainability challenges that you sent out. Very relevant material.

Thanks all.

ps – Valois, pretty sure you already know this, but out of curiosity, I checked and the project contact agrees with our continuing to refer to all of this as a Powertech proposed project, even though the company is now owned by Azarga Resources/Azarga Uranium Corp (AUC), because this project and its assets are wholly owned and (hopes to be operated) by Powertech, a fully independent subsidiary of AUC.
